What is ERA SearchLink.ai?

ERA SearchLink.ai is an online search tool specifically designed for the electronics industry. Created through the collaborative efforts of ERA Board and staff members, along with the expertise of Sam Richter, founder of the Intel Engine, it will help members identify the right prospect opportunities, engineers, decision-makers, job seekers, industry news and more. As a search engine overlay, ERA SearchLink.ai will help your company find the business and sales information you care about faster than you can locate on your own – and even help you discover information you probably didn't even know existed.

How much does the tool cost?

The tool requires an annual subscription from each ERA member company. As of Jan. 1, 2024, this annual fee is $400. The annual subscription includes SearchLink.ai access for up to 20 employees per company, and will require confirmation to renew each year.

How do I obtain SearchLink.ai access for additional employees?

Please supply Karin Derkacz, ERA Operations Director, (kderkacz@era.org) the full names of these employees, along with their city/state, email addresses and phone numbers. All of this information needs to be given for each employee. Once we receive this information, ERA will work to give these employees ERA.org log-in credentials and SearchLink.ai as soon as possible.
